

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. — So Yeon Ryu might have been her own orchestra had golf not turned her into a solo artist. She played the violin, the flute and the piano as a child and even considered a career as a classical musician.

Ryu, 27, now has taken up ballet. She already had been a foodie, and has developed a keen interest in wine, Napa Valley cabernets, among them a 2013 Far Niente cab she received from her instructor, Cameron McCormick, after winning the ANA Inspiration a year ago.

“He knows what I like,” she wrote on Instagram. ...
