The Top Ten

4. Far Niente - A visit to Far Niente is like stepping into a fairy tale. The great stone building was designed as a 'gravity-flow winery' by architect Hamden McIntyre in 1885 and was abandoned after prohibition for more than sixty years before being restored in the early 1980s (the winery now claims a spot on the National Register of Historic Places). The 13 acres of meticulously-maintained gardens that surround the winery are nothing short of jaw-dropping, and include the largest planting of azaleas on the west coast. More than 100 Autumn Gold ginkgo trees line both sides of the road leading up to the winery, and in fall months their bright gold foliage is an Instagrammer's dream.
